

The same miserable crisis of faith in the last third of the movie.

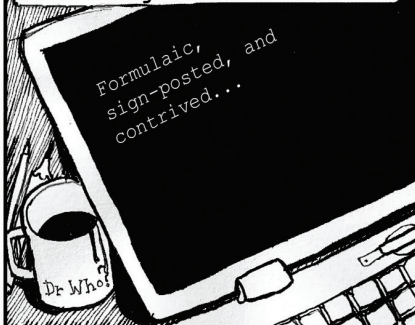

The same miserable last-minute reprieve.

And my own role in this.

The same miserable effort to mine insight from cliché.

Nothing to be said but I say it anyway.

